

Subject: Let's win together!

---

I just thought of a really cool way to have a little fun over the next few weeks, and help a lot of people too.

See, there are a lot of struggling freelance writers out there. Too many in my opinion.

That's why I want to make sure my free report — TITLE — gets into the hands of anyone and everyone who needs it.

But to make sure that happens, I need your help.

That's why I'm holding a contest, where you can win an Amazon gift card valued at $[PRICE]!

All you need to do to win is send me 10 referrals!

Now this contest is meant to be fun, but at the same time, I really want to see you push for the grand prize and win! :)

Participating is easy. Here's how:

1. Sign up for the contest here.

[SIGNUP LINK]

When you sign up, you'll be given a unique tracking link. This link leads to a page on my site where others can access my free report.

2. Post your unique link wherever you think others might like to know about my report, such as your Facebook account, Twitter account, on blogs, or in any freelance forums you frequent.

That's really it in a nutshell :)

My system will track how many people click on your link, and then download the report.

You can also see the number of referrals you make in your account Dashboard.

To help you make the most referrals possible (with the least amount of work), I've put together a quick document for you with 7 easy ways that you can use to spread the word about my free report.

You can download it here:

Get started now. I can't wait to see your results!

All the best,

Kate Iverson
